

Pioneering insulated panel technology.

November 3, 2005 • Issue 34

Metl-Span has been striving to improve our website so you will have helpful tools and the most current information about our products.

We have added a Green Building section with the latest data on environmentally friendly, energy conservation information. This includes relevant facts about Energy Star®, LEED® support, and the Cool Roof Rating Council.

In our Products section, we have included the 13 new C&I colors for each of the panel products.

Also in our Products section under our mineral wool panel, ThermalSafe™, we have included fire resistive approvals for your convenience.

Our goal is to make our website as user friendly and encompassing enough information to save you time and frustration. Check us out again at www.metlspan.com to see why Metl-Span is a recognized leader in the advancement of insulated panel technology committed to continuous product enhancement.
